

Our Privacy Policy

In reality, our Privacy Policy for the <http://Mara.IwantaMassage.com> website is simple and straightforward; it's not personal, it's professional.

All of our valued clients are primarily interested in receiving relief from the stresses, body aches and pains of hectic lifestyles in today's world – in return for payment of professional therapeutic massage service charges incurred. It's not personal, it's professional.

Within <http://Mara.IwantaMassage.com> website, you can find out what we do, how long it takes to complete the service (click the Services offered tab on the left), where we do it and how we do it (see BUSINESS POLICY tab on the left). And, yes, you can contact us (click the CONTACT US tab on the left) to ask questions and to schedule an appointment.

You are welcome to wander around this website, explore, and do some basic research to feel comfortable with the ideas and concepts of therapeutic massage. We will not keep track of everything you are doing within this website. We will not record who you are or when you were here. And even if you send us an email message, we will not keep your email address entered in some database on this website (although we will record your email address on a computer at our business office that can NOT be accessed by the INTERNET). We will respond to ALL email message requests as quickly as is practicable, then delete your email messages from our servers. You see, as Professional Registered Massage Therapists, we already know; it's not personal, it's professional.

The information you provide to us is strictly between you and Mara Nicandro, RMT.

We will NOT sell information about you. We will NOT give away information about you. We will use the information you provide to us in person (person-to-person and not by computer) to provide consistently high levels of personalized therapeutic massage therapy each and every time you visit. It's not personal, it's professional.

We will be pleased to provide you with a copy of any information we have about you (if any information has been gathered) upon request and only in person at one of our business locations. Since all of our business records are available in a separate location than where our services are provided, call ahead a day or two so we can copy what we have (if anything) and get it to the appropriate service location where YOU can pick it up IN PERSON. It's not personal, it's professional.

We will respect the professional relationship you share with us. And we will always consider the privacy implications that are inherent in our relationship. It's not personal, it's professional.

We ask all our valued clients, in return, to respect our privacy. Please tell your good friends and relatives what we do and encourage them to set up an appointment to visit! After all, you only benefit from professional therapeutic massage when your body, mind and spirit finally figures out that life is much easier and more productive when you take charge of the stresses, body aches and pains of our hectic lifestyles today. It's not personal, it's professional.
